

*Movies start
After SUNSET*

Outdoor MOVIE NIGHT

Bring the family and your lawn chairs to Free movies at the Historic National City Railroad Depot
922 W. 23rd St, National City, CA 91950
619-474-4400

A graphic for an outdoor movie night. At the top, a film strip curves across the frame. Below it, the text 'Movies start After SUNSET' is written in a yellow, cursive font. The main title 'Outdoor MOVIE NIGHT' is prominently displayed in the center, with 'Outdoor' in a yellow script and 'MOVIE NIGHT' in a bold, black, sans-serif font. At the bottom, a dark blue banner contains the event details in yellow text. To the right of the text is a white silhouette of a person sitting in a lawn chair.

Command Performance June 17

The Impossible Railroad chronicles the 13-year struggle of the San Diego and Arizona Railroad Construction. Using archival footage and interviews with historians and train enthusiasts, this one-hour documentary evokes the passion that went into linking San Diego to the rest of the nation. Could San Diego's railroad have come too late to attract big business? Or did the obstacles that plagues its construction help to preserve the quality of life in the city?

Filmed on location along the actual San Diego & Arizona Railroad line, The Impossible Railroad captures San Diego's spectacular back country and gives new life to Spreckels' dream by connecting San Diegans with a critical period in the city's development.